RE: CFPB v. Law Offices of Crystal Moroney, P.C., No. 7:20-cv-03240-KMK (S.D.N.Y.)

Dear Judge Karas:

The Bureau respectfully requests an adjournment and re-calendar of the hearing in this case scheduled for November 19, 2020, on Respondent's motion to stay the Court's judgment pending appeal. The Court scheduled that hearing in a calendar notice issued yesterday, October 22. ECF No. 39.

At the August hearing on the Bureau's petition to enforce the CID in this case, I addressed Respondent's constitutional arguments why the CID should not be enforced. Because those arguments appear to form the basis of Respondent's stay request, I plan to argue against the stay motion on behalf of the Bureau. Unfortunately, the hearing scheduled in this case conflicts with a previously scheduled court hearing in which I will also be appearing on behalf of the Bureau. See Order, CFPB v. Seila Law, LLC, No. 17-56324 (9th Cir. Oct. 16, 2020) (setting argument on November 19 for 11:00 am Pacific time).

For this reason, the Bureau respectfully requests that the hearing in this case be adjourned and re-calendar. I have no conflicts any other date in November except November 27 and am available for an earlier hearing date if it would be convenient for the Court.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Kevin E. Friedl
